Lecturer of The Month

Prof. Anak Agung Banyu Perwita, M.A., Ph.D.

Born in Jakarta, Indonesia, on February the 6th, 1967, Prof. Anak Agung Banyu Perwita, M.A., Ph.D. is the current Head of International Relations, Faculty of Business and International Relations, President University, Indonesia. He successfully secured British Chevening Scholarship in 1992 and Australian Development Scholarship in 1998.

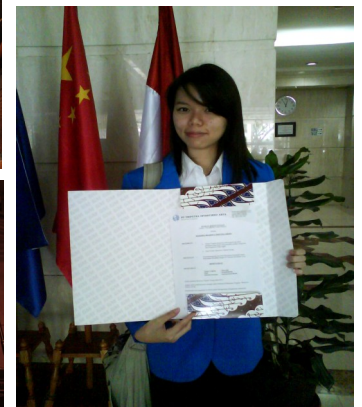

Excitement flowed in abundance on Monday night (11/06/2011) through the hall of President University Student Housing. Approximately 1,100 freshmen from 20 cities in Indonesia gathered and shared excitements about the new chapter of their lives at President University, Indonesia. The Welcoming Night with the theme "No Mediocre" was the peak event following the matriculation program conducted for 3 weeks top at the University.

This year's Welcoming Night was more exciting than last year's event for the reason that not only band and dancing performances were offered by the committee but also various carnival-like games. To top it off, the winners of these games would get a free coupon to enjoy free meals at bazaars. Yummy!

The Welcoming Night was closed through fire works ignition on top of a two story student housing building. All in all, it was truly an amazing experience that was not only aimed to welcome freshmen but also helped them to cope with their new home – President University.
